

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

TO THE SECOND EDITION.

Some delay has taken place in the publication of this Manual of Local Reference, owing chiefly to the circumstance of the Chronological Retrospect, and the several Lists and Tables which follow it, requiring more time, revision, and research, than the Compiler expected: the delay, however, has enabled him not only to give the interesting events of the year 1821, an addition not contemplated when the printing of this Edition commenced; but also to include in the INDEX VILLARIS, the Returns of the Population and number of Houses in each parish in Norfolk, as taken by authority in 1821. To the Clergy and Professional Gentlemen these notices may perhaps prove interesting and valuable documents.

The Chronology of Remarkable Events has been compiled principally from the Volumes of the NORFOLK CHRONICLE; of which, for the local occurrences for the last fifty years at least, the Retrospect may be considered as an Epitome.

The Lists of the Parishes in Norfolk (with the number of houses and persons in 1821), distinguishing whether Rectories, Vicarages, or Perpetual Curacies, with their respective distances from Norwich; and of the Seats and Villas in the County; will, it is hoped, be found useful to those who reside in, or may occasionally visit this part of the kingdom, either for pleasure or for business.

** Such errors, of omission or commission, as may be discovered in this humble Compilation, shall (if pointed out) be corrected in a future Edition, if ever a Third should be called for.

J. MATCHETT.

STATISTICAL DESCRIPTION

NORFOLK AND NORWICH

o transpiring and a constant principal of the constant of the

IS a maritime county, situated between 529 281 and 53° S' of north latitude, and between 13' and 1842" of east longitude. This diversified portion of England is bounded on the north and east by the British Ocean; on the south and south east, from Suffolk by the river Wareney; and on the south-west; from that county, by the Little Ouse or Brandon river; and on the west by the Isle of Ely, in Cambridge shire, and by the Lincolnshire Washes! The county of Norfolk is nearly of an oval form, and excent a small space near Lophum, is surrounded by water, and is thus almost an island of itself? Its principal rivers are the Great and Little Ouse, which meet the sea in one channel below Lyan, and the Waveney, the Wensum, and the Bure, or North River, which whiting together form the Yare, and fall into the British Ocean. The Nar, which has its source at Litcham, falls into the Greater Ouse, and is navigable as far as Narborough The greatest length of this county, due east and west. from the meridiah of Yarmouth to that of Wis-bedh, is 59 miles; its greatest breadth, north and south, or the parallel of Billingford to that of Wells. 38 miles; and its circumference about 210 miles.

It contains 2092 square miles, equal to 1,338,880 statute acres (reckoning 640 statute acres to a mile). The number of inhabitants in each square mile averaged in 1821, 164 persons.

When the Romans first invaded Britain, in the year 55 (B. C.) this part of it was inhabited by the Iceni (the first inhabitants of this county that we read of); after the defeat and death of their heroic Queen Boadicea (A. D. 60), the Roman Generals, to prevent the people from revolting again, established numerous military posts; their principal stations in this county bore the names of Branodunum (Brancaster), Venta Icenorum (Caister, near Norwich), Sitomagus (supposed to be Thetford), and Ad Taum (Tasburgh). It was made part of the province of Flavia Casariensis; and the Roman way is conjectured to have crossed this county to Garrianonum, now Burgh Castle (Suffolk), near Yarmouth.

Under the Anglo-Saxon Heptarchy it, belonged to the kingdom of the East Angles. The first Saxon leader that established himself, and assumed dominion ever that part of the country, which at present comprises Norfolk, Suffolk, and Cambridgeshire, was Uffa: this was in the year 575. From him, the inhabitants ... were denominated Uffagines, and the country East. Anglia. About this period it appears probable that ... the city of Norwich arose out of the Venta Icenerum. of the Britons and Romans (Caister), for according to an old distich, was a state of the state

Caister was a city when Norwich was none, And Norwich was built with Caister stone,

And from its relative situation with respect to the old city, was called by the Saxons Northick or Northwick : as Norfolk, or the Northern Folk, is so called with respect to Suffolk, or the Southern Folk. This, as well as the other eastern counties, was the scene of many military transactions in the time of the Danish, invasion (about 890), particularly in the neighbourhood of Thetford; since which time, however, it has been free from all foreign incursions and ravages, and even from intestine commotions, except during the formidable insurrection (in 1549), headed by one Robert Kett (a tanner, of Wymondham), in the reign of Edward VI.

Norfolk (including Norwich), stands the fifth in extent, and the eighth county in England as to population; and is divided into thirty-three hundreds, comprising 722 parishes and hamlets (including twenty market towns). According to the several returns laid before Parliament, the population of Norfolk (including Norwich) was, in 1801, 273,371; in 1811, 291,999 (being an increase from 1801 to 1811 of 18,628 persons); and in 1821, the population was 344,368, being an increase since 1811, of 52,369 (18 per cent.) and since 1801, of 70,907 souls. According to calculations made on the returns of Births and Burials, the population of Norfolk in 1750, was 215,100; and in 1700, 210,200 persons.

The soil is not abundantly fertile of itself (except perhaps in the eastern part of the county), yet by the skill and industry of its inhabitants, it has been rendered, one of the most productive corn and grazing counties in England; but it is so various, that this county may. be termed an epitome of the kingdom; comprehending every sort—arable, pasture, meadow, wood-lands, light sandy ground, deep clays, good loams, heaths, and fens. In the south part of the county, the land in some districts consists of a strong clay, wet and difficult to cultivate; in the south-west part the land is light; in the east part (particularly in Blofield, Walsham, and Flegg hundreds), the land consists, chiefly of a good loam; in the west, north, and northwest, which comprise the most considerable part of the county, the soil consists chiefly of a sandy loam.

From its maritime situation, vegetation is earlier in the spring by nearly a month, in the southern than in the northern extremity of the county; it being no unusual circumstance for the harvest to conclude in the former before it commences in the latter. Within the last 50 years the Commons of upwards of 300 parishes have been inclosed, and brought into a high state of cultivation. Its exports of grain, pulse, flour, and malt, from the ports of Yarmouth, Lynn, Wells, and Cley, (chiefly for the London market), is estimated at 600,000 quarters annually, worth at least a million sterling; and the fat cattle and sheep, swine, rabbits, poultry, wool, herrings, &c. sent out of the county, at half a million more.

The DIOCESE of NORWICH comprehends the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, and 12 parishes in Cambridgeshire. Its ecclesiastical government is in the Lord Bishop, four Archdeacons, the Dean and Chapter, Chancellor, &c. Christianity was introduced into this part of East Anglia at a very early period. St. Felix, a Burgundian priest, who landed at Babingley, in Norfolk, was constituted Bishop, and first fixed his see at Dunwich, about the year 630. 673, Bisas, the fourth Bishop, divided the diocese, continuing one at Dunwich, who had jurisdiction over Suffolk, and settled the other at North Elmham, whose pastoral care was confined to Norfolk. About 870. the sees were united, and the Bishop's residence fixed at Elmham. In 1075, the Episcopal See was removed to Thetford, and so continued till 1094, when it was finally fixed at Norwich by Herbert de Lozinga. who was the first Bishop of Norwich, and founded the Cathedral church there in 1098. He died in 1119, He was extremely rich and powerful, being Lord High. Chancellor of England, as were also some of his successors. The Right Rev. Father in God, Henry Bathurst, LE. D. the present Lord Bishop of Norwich, is the sixty-fifth from Herhert de Lonings. --

See the List of Bishops and Deans of Norwich, p. 211.
The Bishop of Norwich sits in Parliament by virtue of the Barony of Holme (St. Bennet's).-Holme was a mitred Abbey, and as such its Abbots always sat in Parliament. Shortly before the dissolution of the other Monasteries, the revenues of this Abbey were transferred by a private Act of Parliament to Bishop Rugg (or Repps), who had been Abbot of Holme, in exchange with the Crown for all the estates belonging to the see, of much greater value then. The Abbey in consequence escaped a formal dissolution, and has ever since remained annexed to the Bishoprick. The Bishop of Norwich is therefore the only mitred Abhot remaining in England. One of his predecessors, Bishop Montague, in the time of Charles the 1st, assumed in his leases the title of Lord Abbot of St. Benedict de Hulm. The revenues of the Bisboprick are supposed to be about £4000 a-vear.

This diocese is in the province of Canterbury, and the Bishop of Norwich is a suffragan to that metropolitan. According to Brown Willis, the number of churches and chapels in the diocese is 1358, including those in ruins. The number of beneficed clergy in the diocese is supposed to be 680—the unbeneficed 150. In Norfolk (including Norwich), the number of beneficed clergy is about 370, & of unbeneficed, 80.

The Civil Government of the county is in the High Sheriff for the time being. He is generally appointed (out of the three gentlemen nominated) about the end of January, by the King in council, and presides at all county meetings. The Lent Assizes are held at Thetford, in March, and the Summer Assizes at Norwich, in July or August. Before the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk had each of them a separate High Sheriff, the usage was for the Crown to appoint one year out of the gentlemen of Norfolk, and the next out of Suffolk, and so on alternately.—The separation took place in the 18th of Elizabeth, 1576.

The Military & Marine Government of this county is committed to the care of a Lord Lieutenant and Vice-Admiral, who is also Custos Rotulorum (Keeper of the Rolls or Records). He is the Representative of the King, and, as his Vice-roy governs in the county. He has the power of commissioning all the officers in the Militia (regular and local), his Majesty's approbation, as a mere matter of form, being obtained; he appoints the Deputy Lieutenants, who regulate the militia ballots. &c. and whose names must also be presented to the King. As Custos Rotulorum he puts such gentlemen as are properly qualifled into the Commission of the Peace, and also appoints the Clerk of the Peace. His Majesty's present Lieutenant is the Hon. John Wodehouse, M. P. of Witton-house.*

Norfolk has produced as many great and eminent persons in war, politics, faw, and learning, as most counties; and few can boast of so many antient and bonourable families. If preceding centuries could boast of a Fastolf, a Coke, a Cloudesley Shovel, and a Spelman—the eighteenth century has produced a Walpole, a Thurlow, a Windham. and a Nelson!

Norfolk sends two Knights and eight Burgesses to Parliament (exclusive of two Citizens returned by Norwich). The number of resident and non-resident freeholders who polled at the contested election for Kuights of the Shire in 1734, was 6302-in 1768, 5568-in 1802, 7251-in 1806, 6956-and in 1817. 7217.

Lord Lieutenants of Counties were first appointed July 24, 1549,

According to the Returns made to Parliament in 1803, under the act "for procuring returns relative to the expence and maintenance of the poor in England, (43d Geo. III.) it appears that the money raised in this county by the parish rates (including the poor-rate, church-rate, highway-rate, militia, &c.) amounted: to 184.572L 12s. 10 id. averaging 5s. 2d. in the pound. The number of persons relieved from the poors'-rate appears to be sixteen in a hundred of the resident population in 1801. The amount of the whole expenditure on account of the poor appears to average 12s. 104d. per head on the population. According to the returns relative to the expense and maintenance of the poor, made in 1816, pursuant to the 55th Geo. III. the poor and other rates in 1813 (exclusive of Norwich), amounted to 330,4871. 7s. 82d. (average rate in the pound, 4s. 62d.)—in 1814, to 285,332/, 2s. 51d. (average rate in the pound, 44.) -in 1815, to 226,919/, 4s. 61d. (average rate in the pound, 3s. 21d.) The total number of persons relieved permanently in and out of any workhouse, on the average of the above three ! years (including 14,164 occasionally relieved), appears to he 34,523, exclusive of any children of those permanently relieved out of the house. The number of persons relieved from the poors' rates; appears to have, been eleven in each hundred of the existing population in 1811. The poors'-rates appeared to have been at the rate of 14 9s. 81d. per head on the population, or 3s. 11d. in the pound of the total amount of the fax as assessed on rest, property in 1815. Each plauser appears to have been maintained at an expense of 71. 2s. 10d, Two hundred and ninety-foun phrishes maintain the greater part of their poor in workhouses. averaging for the three years (1818, 114, 18nd 116). 3403 persons and The smoutht of money bepended in suits of law, removals, and expenses of parishiofficers, a averaged for the same period £9548; ditto for militia purposes, £4856; do. for all other purposes, £45,508. Total expenditure, independent of the maintenance of the poor (as above stated), £59,972. The sum expended for the maintenance of the poor in Norfolk, for the year ending the 25th of March, 1820, was 272,9394, 198.

The number of members in FRIENDLY SOCIETIES in 1818, was 13,397—in 1814, 13,286—in 1815, 14,080. The number of persons belonging to these Societies appears to be, for the last three years, nearly 4; in the hundred of the resident population.

SAVINGS BANKS have been established in most of the market towns in this county.

The average annual amount of CMARITABLE DONA-TIONS, whether arising from land or money (seconding to the Returns made in 1788; pursuant to Mr. Gilbert's act, in 1786, 28th Geo. III. and ordered by the House of Commons to be printed June 28th, 1816), which are managed or distributed by the minister, clurchwardens, or overseers, was—for Parish Schools, 12671. 178. 84d.—for other purposes, 70151. 4s. 6d.—total, 88831. 2s. 44d. The rentals of the lands bequeathed for charitable purposes have been considerably iscreased since these returns were made to Parliament in 1788.

The whole county (including Norwich, and the boroughs of Yarmouth, Lynn, and Thetford), plays (or paid before the act passed in 1709 for its redemption) to the Land-tux 84,8881. Sit 10 dil. The County-rate for the building and repairing of bridges, gook, etc. is raised by a 2300, 3480; or 2000 Lavri Wymendiama (in Borehoe Mandeed); pays the highest sum under these respective device, with 11. #### NORWICH.

Containing $4 Purishes, ten Humlets, the Precincts of the Cathadral, Bishop's Paluce, and Town Close,

IS a City and County of itself, and is situated in 1° 20/ east longitude of London, and 52° 45/ north lati-The old city, founded by the Saxons, probably soon after the desertion of the ancient Venta Locuorum. (now Caister) by the Romans, in the fifth century, was burnt by the Danes in 1004, and continued in a desolate state till 1010, when the Danes returned & settled here: from this time must be dated the origin of the present city, which stands upon more ground than any other in England; the distance from north to south, in a direct line, being about one mile three furlongs, and from east to west, one mile; and abounds with gardens and orchards, so that it has been said, that to one behelding it at a distance, it seems questionable whether it be a city in a wood, or a wood in a city: The outline of its circumference has been compared to the figure of a shoulder of mutton. The boundary of the county of the city of Norwich measures about 16 miles five furlongs.

Norwich was very early made a Corporation, and governed at different times by Provosts and Bailiffs.

In 1408, the citizens obtained a charter from King Henry IV. and a Mayor and two Shuriffs were appointed instead of the four Bailiffs; and by that and various other charters it has since been governed by 24 Aldermen (one of whom is annually elected Mayor), two Sheriffs, and 60 Common Councilmen; and has also a Recorder, Steward, Town Clerk, Chamberlain, Swordbearer, &c. It is divided into four great wards, each of which is subdivided into three anall wards.

The arms of the city are; Guiss, a castle triple towered, argent—in base a lion passent gardent, Or. Supporters, two angels with wings expanded, that on the dexter side holding a sword in the dexter hand, and the other a sword in the sinister hand, all proper. The crost is the cap of maintenance.

The CATHEDRAL (the first stone of which was laid by Bishop Herbert de Lozinga, in 1098), was finished by succeeding Bishops in 1284; its extreme length, from east to west, is 411 feet; its beautiful spire is $17 feet high, and is the highest in England except that of Salisbury, which is 400 feet high.

Besides the Cathedral, Norwich contains 34 parish churches, two other churches in the city, and four in the hamlets, two Roman Cathedia chapels, twelve Protestant Dissenting and Methodiat chapels, and two Quakers' meeting-houses. The following buildings are well worthy the attention of strangers. St. Peter's Manoroft church, measuring 212 feet in length, and 70 in width; the Guildhall; St. Andrew's-hall, adorned with pictures, and in which a corn market is held on Saturdays, the largest banducting-room in Hughand, out of the metropolis, being 120 feet long and 70 wide within the walls; Bridewell, faced with curiously out fiints; the Notfolk and Nerwich Hospital; and the Cavalry Birraicks.

NORWICH CASTLE is one of the most perfect remains of Saxon architecture in England, and is supposed to have been erected about the year 1018. It was granted to the Sheriff of Norfolk for a public prison in 1339, and in 1793 a considerable addition was made to it. From the Castle-hill (the summit of which is 360 yards in circumference), there is a panoramic view of the whole city and the circumjacent country, which is allowed to be superior to any thing of the kind in the kingdom, or perhaps in Europe. The Castle-precinct contains six acres, one rood, and 13 perches, but was formerly much larger, having two outer ditches now belonging to the city.-The Hill, forming a fine promenude, is enclosed both at the ton and bottom with iron palisades and iron gates: at the foot of the only remaining bridge, which is nearly 150 feet in extent, are two modern lodges; the other approach to the hill is by a sloping path and steps, at the foot of which is an arch of stone. It belonged to the Crown, and always was a part of the county of Norfolk; but by an act of Parliament passed in 1806, the Castle and its present limits were vested in the Justices of the Peace for Norfolk, in trust, by which they were empowered to re-build, repair, or alter any part of it; and in consequence of the Magistrates having resolved to add to the present Castle, and to erect a new Courthouse at the foot of the hill, application was made to Parliament for a new act, which was passed on the 25th of March, 1822.

There are now nine bridges over the river Wensum, -which winds, through the sity from north-west to south-east, and is navigable to the seamet Y-armouth. The city had 12 gates, all of which have recently been taken down, and several openings have been made in the walls. It was a theatre, specious assembly rooms, and rural gardens; a public library, a general hospital, a workhouse, and infirmary, a bethel for the reception of lunatics, and four other hospitals for old men and women, boys and girls. Also an hospital and school for indigent blind, charity, national, and Lancasterian schools, public dispensary, infirmary for diseases of the eye, and numerous other humane and charitable institutions.

Its population in 1821, was 50,288—being an increase of 13,082 souls since 1811; but we refer the reader on this subject to the Table of Returns, between pages 248 and 249.

The number of members in Friendly Societies in 1815, was 1652. A Savings Bank was established here in 1816. The Charitable Donations under the management of parish officers, for parochial schools, and other purposes, amounted (according to the Returns in 1815), to 721l. 8s. 0d.

The manufactory of crapes, camblets. &c. was introduced into Norwich about the year 1840. Bombazines were afterwards invented by the Dutch, who settled here in 1575. Shawls were introduced in 1791, and the cotton manufactory about the same time.—About twelve years ago, mills for throwing of silk, on an extensive scale, were erected by Messrs. Grout, Baylis, and Co. The building adjoins the Mills at the extent of the navigation, and the machinery is worked by a shaft, which attaches to a water wheel. Other large buildings have since been erected near it by the same parties, the machinery in which is worked by a beautiful steam-engine of 20-horse power. made by Messrs. Bolton and Watts, The business carried on at this manufactory gives employment to about 1000 men, women, and children, in this city.

Since the return of peace in 1815, the manufactories have been in a state of increasing improvement. Its market days are Wednesdays and Saturdays.

the parties came to blows.

Oct. 11.—An illumination and bonfire in honour of the Coronation of George II. and Queen Caroline.

About this time the Norwich Mercury was first printed by William Chase.+

1728. Aug. 20.—Died Mr. John Kirkpatrick, linenmerchant, in St. Andrew's; a learned man, who made a valuable Collection of the Antiquities and History of Norwich.

* Remark,—Every improvement in agriculture has a tendency to an increase of population, and Norfolk, for the last half century, stands high in the scale of agricultural improvements; its present system of Husbandry being founded on the field culture of Turnipis. It originated with Lord Viscount Charles Townshend, the noble progenitor of the present Townshend family, and Secretary to George I. and II. He brought the seed over with him from Hanover in 1715, and made his first experiment with it upon the light lands near Raisham. An author of celebrity (Lord Kaims) has pronounced, that the first introducer of that now indispensible root, may be deservedly reckoned amongst the greatest benefactors of mankind: the numerous improvements which have succeeded derive their utility from its culture, and from which the Norfolk husbandry derives its extending influence. Through this has been founded the practice of Dibbling Wheat, now so generally adopted.

† The following Remark was communicated by the late Thomas Bland, Esq. of Norwich, a gentleman of great observation and accuracy, to whom the Compilers of the first Edition were much indebted: "I have in my possession a series of Norwich Mercuries, the first of which bears date September 2, 1737, and it has not the appearance of being the first printed, but the early papers are not numbered. I have also a newspaper, entitled "The Weekly Mercury; or, The Protestant Packet, from Saturday, Oct. 13, to Saturday, Oct. 20, 1722, printed by Wm. Chase, in the Cockey-lane, price three-helipence." It is printed on a sheet and a half, small folio.—in a manuscript memorandum of some occurrences (mostly political) in Norwich, from 1729.—An Act passed for the better regulating the City Elections, and for preserving the peace, good order, and government of the city; and at an assembly on the Guild-eve, the Mayor and Aldermen of Norwich first sate in the Council Chamber, and the Common Council in their own room; for by that Act a majority of each body is required to a corporate order, whilst before it passed, the two bodies sat, debated, and voted together.

1730.—Under this Act three Nominees for each of the four great wards were first elected, who returned the remaining number of Common Councilmen, (60 in the whole).

Commissions received for the Officers of the Artillery Company.—T. Balderstone, Esq. appointed Captain.

Wolterton House, built by the late Lord Walpole, was finished about this time.

Some labourers digging on Moushold heath, in the manor of Thorpe, discovered the foundation walls of the church called St. William's in the Wood, which were thirty three inches thick.

June 30.—Two Princes of Mount Libanus in Syria came to Norwich, with letters of recommendation.—They stayed two days, and proceeded to Lynn Regis.

1731.—Norwich market new paved.—Feb. 24. One hundred and sixty-one freemen were admitted & sworn.

St. George's Company resigned up their books, charters and records, into the hands of the city, when the present procession on the Guild-day was fixed.

<sup>1723</sup> to 1734, I find the following passage—" July 23, 1729—This day, at an adjournment of the sessions, held at our Guildhall, Wm. Chase, the printer, was discharged from his recognizance, for a paragraph in his newspaper of the 19th of April last, containing some reflections upon the conduct of the Mayor, in the scrutiny for Common Councilmen in the Long Ward; and on the 31st of July, a bill was carried to the Grand Jury at the City assizes, on the same account, but it was rejected."

The Guild breakfast and feasts given in May or August excused for the feast now given when the Mayor of Norwich is sworn in.

Oct. 30.—A large sturgeon taken in a poor fisherman's nets at Sherringham, was brought to Norwich, being 12 feet long and 9 in girth; the liver weighed 5½ stone.

1732.—Charing-cross and the Cross in Norwich

Market-place taken down.

Great damage done to persons and property by mad dogs in Norwich. The year was very sickly.

1733. July 11.—Sir Robert Walpole presented with the freedom of the city in a gold box, and in person sworn in.

Tombland new paved, and the front of St. Stephen's gates beautified.

1734.—Sir Robert Walpole presented a silver gilt mace of 168 oz. to the Corporation of Norwich. It was first carried before the Mayor on the 29th of May.

The gold chain, &c. now worn by the Mayor of Yarmouth, purchased by subscription.

May 22.—A strongly contested County Election, at which 6302 freeholders were polled.—The candidates were, Sir Edm. Bacon, Bart. 3224—Wm. Wodehouse, Esq. 3153—William Morden, Esq. 3147—and Robert Coke, Esq. 3081. The two former (of "the Country Interest") were returned.

One Danby, a poor fisherman, of Yarmouth, obtained a verdict, with 15l. damages, against William Browne, Esq. Mayor of that town, Justice Artis, and Masters the bridewell-man, for whipping and false imprisoning the plaintiff. This (party) business was differently represented by Crosgrove, the printer of the Norwich Gazette, and his opponent, Wm. Chase, the printer of the Norwich Mercury, and produced a paper war between these renowned typographers; the former of whom espoused the Tory, and the latter the Whig interests.

Dec. 31.—The greatest flood known in Norwich since 1696.

1735.—Houghton-hall (the building of which was begun in 1722) was finished this year by Sir Robert Walpole.

1736.—Hog-hill paved.

This year the Rev. Francis Blomefield, A.M. Rector of Fersfield, commenced the printing of his History of Norfolk. He died in 1752.—In 1769 it was continued, and afterwards completed in 5 folio vols. by the Rev. Charles Parkin, A. M. Rector of Oxburgh. An edition of this valuable work was printed in 11 vols. 8vo. (with large paper copies, in 4to.) by Mr. Wm. Miller, of London, in 1805.

1737. Oct. 4.—The lower part of the city was fleoded.

Queen Caroline died Nov. 20th, and was interred Dec. 17th, when the great bell of every church in the city tolled from six in the evening till 11 at night.

1738.—The ditches on the south side of the Castle were levelled—since which time the cattle market has been kept there.

Mr. Robert Snell, attorney at-law, gave to St. Giles's parish, in Norwich, 1001. to purchase a set of communion plate.

1739.—A remarkably severe winter, and a prodigious flood upon the breaking up of the frost. This has ever since been called the hard winter. The cold was more intense than in 1708 and 1715.

Sept. 6.—The east side of Bawdeswell steeple, with its five bells, fell, destroying the whole body of the church, except the chancel.

Sept. 24.—Three children killed by a wall falling on them in the Duke's palace yard, Norwich. Oct. 20.—Twenty persons robbed between Norwich and Honingham by two highwaymen.

Oct. 30.—(Being the King's birth-day) war was proclaimed against Spain; the Mayor and Aldermen attending on horseback in their scarlet gowns, with the two Sheriffs, who appeared for the first time in the gold chains given by Thomas Emerson, Esq. of London, which cost 100 guineas each. A portrait of him was placed in St. Andrew's-hall, at the expense of the Corporation, and the honorary freedom of the city (of which he was a native) was afterwards presented to him.

Races on Moushold heath, at which at least 100,000 persons were present.—London porter advertised for sale; "that excellent malt liquor (says Crosgrove) so much in vogue amongst the quality and gentry."

The steeple of Baconsthorpe fell, and demolished part of the church. It continued in a very ruinous state till 1770, after which it was repaired by the rector and inhabitants at a considerable expence.

1740. March.—The thawing of a deep snow produced a great flood.

May 5.—The season so sharp, that at ten in the morning the snow fell and hung on the Cathedral spire, from the top to the second window.

An Act was passed for confirming and establishing an exchange between the Lord of the Manor and the Rector of Great Bircham, and for promoting and facilitating the inclosure of the Commons of the said parish.

The Cathedral (the building of which fine Gothic structure was completed by Bishop Middleton about the year 1284) was this year cleaned and repaired; it was again repaired and beautified in 1763, in Bishop Younge's fine; and in 1777 and 1780, two painted windows, representing the Transfiguration and the twelve apostles, (finely executed by the Lady of the late Dean Lloyd) were placed at the east end of the choir.

Wheat was above 20s. per coomb.

This year, on pretence of the dearness and scarcity of bread corn, much rioting took place in Norwich and Norfolk, to suppress which the magistrates were obliged to call in the aid of the military, and two men and two women were shot dead. Two of the rioters were hanged on the Castle-hill.

The expences of Yarmouth haven this year were 3299l. 15s. 7d.

1741. May 3.—Ordered by the Corporation of Norwich, that no stranger should exercise any trade in the city more than six months, without taking up his freedom.

High Sheriff, in the chair) Addresses of Condolesses to the Prince Regent and Prince Laopald, on the lamented death of the Princess Charlotte, were moved by Lord Walpple, and seconded by the Hon. Col. Woodshause, The Rev. Archdescen Bethurst opposed the Addresses, on accent of the omission of the name of the Princess of Walca. After a long speech he moved an amendment, stating, "that any Addresses to Prince Regent and Prince Leopold, unaccompanied by an Address to the Princess of Wales, would operate as an insulting neglect to one of the first characters in the Royal Family, and as a disrespect to the memory of Her who was the pride and hope of the British people."—The High Sheriff objected to put this amendment, the name of the Princess of Wales not having been included in the requisition. The amendment was seconded by Mr. N. Palmer, of Yarmouth. On a shew of hands, the High Sheriff declared the Addresses moved by Lord Walpole to be carried in the affirmative, which were afterwards signed by the High Sheriff, to whom the thanks of the meeting were moved and carried by acclamation; the Rev. Archdeacon Bathurst alone dissenting thereto.

The Corporation attended divine service at the Cathedral; and the Mayor (C. Brown, Esq.) afterwards gave an elegant dinner in the Old Library Room, at St. Andrew's-hall, in honour of the day. In the afternoon the loyal clubs met, and afterwards paraded the streets with bands of music and flags flying.

—— 9.—Parliament being dissolved and the writs received, Messrs. Smith and Gurney made their public entry into Norwich; and on the 11th, the Hon. Edw. Harbord, having been invited to come forward in opposition to the late Members, was met at Mile-end, and drawn into this city by the populace, in his barouche, attended by a large cavalcade of freeholders and freemen.

—— 16 — Being Guild-day, Barnabas Leman, Esq. was sworn in Mayor of Norwich for the second time. The Corporation went in procession to the Cathedral, preceded by the Blue and White Clubs, the freemen wearing those colours in their hats; which was, however, considered as improper and ill-timed, and Mr. Wm. Smith, before the procession started, after recommending his friends to abstain from this display of party feeling on "such a day," pulled his colours from his hat and put them into his pocket. His example, however, was not followed.

June 17.—This day came on the election of Members for this city; the polling continued till the following day. During the chairing Mr. Harbord was pelted with stones, one of which he caught; a man was apprehended, charged with having thrown the stone. but was afterwards bailed.—At the final close the numbers were—For Wm. # INDEX VILLARIS;

Or, LIST of the MARKET TOWNS and VILLAGES in the County of N()RFOLK—the Hundreds in which they lie—and the distance of each place from the City of Norwich—with the number of Houses and Population of each Parish, as taken in 1821.

[The figures in the first column denote the distance in measured or computed miles from Norwich Market-place—those in the fourth column the number of Houses, (inhabited and uninhabited.)—R means Rectory, V Vicarage, and C Perpetual Curacy.—The Market-towns are distinguished by Small Capitals, and the letters after them show the days on which the markets are held.]

The Summary of the County of Suffolk is collected from the Registers of Five Hundred Parish Churches and Two Chapels; from Two Registers of Dissenters, and from Six other Registers; and it is believed that no return whatever remains due.

RETURNS OF THE ### FAMILIES and AGES of PERSONS, IN SURFOLK.

Under the Population Act (1 Geo. IV, c. 94.)

In 1821 the number of Families chiefly employed in Agriculture was $0,795; in trade, manufactures, or handicraft, 17,418—all other families not comprised in the two preceding classes, 6651.—The number of houses building was 270. Increase in inhabited houses since 1811, 6202.—Increase of necessary, do. 26,381.

The number of Males, in 1821, under 5 years of age, was 20,054; from 5 to 10, 17,765; from 10 to 18, 15,284; from 15 to 20, 13,021; from 20 to 80, 18,236; from 30 to 40, 13,684; from 40 to 50, 11,239; from 50 to 60 8,657; from 60 to 70, 6,592; from 70 to 80, 3,482; from 80 to 90, 876; from 90 to 100, 50 .- Total of Males, 128,959.

The number of FEMALES, under 5 years of age, was 19,640; from 5 to 10, 17,544; from 10 to 15, 14,252; from 15 to 20, 12,888; from 20 to 30, 21,660; from 30 to 40, 15,131; from 40 to 50, 12,287; from 50 to 50, 8,987; from 60 to 70, 6,695; from 70 to 80, 3,577; from 80 to 90, 1,128; from 90 to 100,92; from 100 and npwards, 2°.—Total of Females, 133,874.

[* One at Great Thurlow, in Risbridge Hundred, & one at Ipswich.]
The total number of Enumeration Returns received from the Conssty of Suffolk; was 523; six of which did not contain any answer to the question concerning the ages of persons; and a very small proportion of the Returns of ages were somewhat deficient, or redundant—or incorrect in the respective numbers of Males and Females.

The total number of persons in the county of Suffolk was 1270,548, and the number of persons whose ages wore returned was 202,833; whence it appears that the ages of about a thirty-fifth part of the persons therein enumerated, has not been obtained in compliance with the question to that effect.

The County of Suffolk contains 1512 square miles, equal to $907.889 statute series, (reckoning 640 statute series to a mile.)

The number of Inhabitants in each square mile averaged in 1821, nearly 179 persons.—The Population of Suffolk, in 1700, was 152.700,—In 1750, 166.800.—In 1801, 217.400.—In 1811, 254,211.—In 1821, 270,542.—The number of Farishes and Hamlets is 520.
